PROGRESS OF THE CAMPAIGN

REPUBLICANS TALK IN PAUOA

BROWN STANDS ON HIS RECORD
HUSTACE AND HARRIS WIN
MUCH APPLAUSE.

The Republicans held a big meeting last night at Pauoa. There was a long list of speakers, and two quintet clubs furnished music. Charles W. Booth acted as chairman and busied himself with arrangements for the crowd, which was a large one.

W. O. Smith was introduced as the first speaker. He urged support of Kuhio for Congress and said that while he did not always think it necessary to vote the straight ticket, he thought the present Republican ticket should be voted. Smith was received with applause. C. F. Chillingworth and L. L. McCandless, the other two senatorial candidates, followed and both were cheered in encouraging style.

Sheriff Brien was the first of the county candidates to speak. He stood boldly on his record. He declared that he would promise nothing more than to administer his office in the future, if elected, as he had in the past. If voters were not satisfied with that, they could vote for Lauka. Brown was cheered as he retired.

"In one case," he remarked "the people were voting for one they knew, but in the other for an unknown quantity." Brown pledged his support for the whole ticket and said he was not working for himself more than for the others, but that his fight was the hardest. Brown spoke of the fairness of the Republican party in nominating Kuhio, a son of the soil, while the Democrats had named an almost utter stranger.

Charles Hustace, Jr., made a hit with a speech in Hawaiian. He predicted success for Republicans on the mainland, declaring that it would be many years before they got in power. Hustace evidently won the crowd, and was vigorously applauded.

Harris' speech dealt in part with McClanahan. He said it would be better, as far as the Cuban proposition was concerned, to send a Republican to Congress, who would stand by the principle of a protective tariff. The Democrats were making extravagant promises, said Harris, as to what they would do in the legislature. Harris was loudly applauded when he finished with a plea for votes for the party that does things rather than the party that promises.

The speakers to follow, all urging support of the whole ticket, were Samuel Dwight, John W. Cathcart, Charles Hustace, Jr., A. D. Castro, E. A. Long, E. W. Quinn, W. T. Rawlins, Kaleo and Henry Vida. The latter referred to his being entrusted with a mission to London, by Governor Carter and Attorney General Andrews and said he had been fought since by Thurston and a clique because he would not take a Civic nomination last time.

Vida said his commission as Deputy High Sheriff and as a commissioner to London had been signed by Governor Carter and on his return to Hawaii he had been asked to be a candidate for Deputy High Sheriff. He declined and on account of that he had been attacked and written up in the newspapers. He had been charged with dishonesty, but he must have been capable or he would not have been appointed to a position by Sheriff Henry or by the Attorney General when he went to London. There is a clique in town, represented by the Advertiser, that has no use for me and no use for Brown, said Vida. Their policy and the policy of L. A. Thurston is to rule or ruin and when they can't rule they will ruin. L. A. Thurston was once a power, but he lost control. In the Advertiser this morning were printed the names of 17 or 18 unfortunate people who had been brought to the station for being drunk. It was claimed that it was a new thing and it had been done for votes, but it has been done ever since we have been in office. Why take the unfortunate to the judge and have them fined five or six dollars? What about their wives and children, who have nothing in the house to eat after their unfortunate husbands and fathers have been sent to jail because they had no money to pay their fines? If you think we have done wrong, don't vote for either of us. Vote the whole ticket.

JUST LIKE A GIRL

June night. Moonlight. Clapsed tight.
"I must be going now, pet. It is getting late and—"
"But do you love me, George?"
"Love you? Why, you dear little girl, haven't I been telling you all the evening how much I loved you?"
"Have you, George?"
"Have I? Why, great—"
"But are you quite sure that you love me?"
"Of course I am sure, my dear. Really—"
"And double sure?" Didn't you love the old girl just this much?"
"What old girl? There wasn't any old girl that I know of."

"Wasn't there? Can I ask one more question before you go, George?"
"Certainly, my dear. What is it?"
"Do you love me? Do—"

DEMOCRATS' TWO MEETINGS

CANDIDATES ARE HEARD AT KAKAOKO AND PUUNUI LAST NIGHT.

Two Democratic meetings were held last night, and both of them suffered from rainfall. The meetings were in Kakaoko and Puunui. The Puunui crowd was a small one and rain made it dwindle. At both meetings there were many and enthusiastic speeches.

In the Kakaoko meeting Col. C. J. McCarthy brought up the matter of redistricting the county and promised if elected to work in the legislature for a localizing of candidates, so that Kakaoko could have its own, for the legislature. W. W. Thayer spoke of the fine records made by Trent and Moore as showing Democratic worth. Col. Lauka, who was received with applause, said he had not sought the nomination for sheriff, but was out to win now that he had accepted. He said that public sentiment demanded a change in police administration. Col. Lauka said he was opposed to a police force paid for by the taxpayers being used as a political machine, and if he were put at the head of the department he would insist on the police doing their duty and letting politics alone while on duty. Now was the time for the people to get the needed reforms. Many Republicans are going to revolt from supported the candidates of a packed convention.

Other speakers were Charles Broad, M. A. Silva, Edward Ingham, Uluhi, Charles Rose, Moses Palau, F. W. Weed, Joseph Fern and Thomas Gandall. Albert Kluwe acted as chairman and F. W. Weed as interpreter for those who could not address the meeting in Hawaiian.

At the Puunui meeting Kamahu presided and presented Chairman Mossman as the first speaker. Mossman spoke of the Republican campaign fund and said it was the fund that was cheered at the Republican meetings. The Republicans had not done the right thing by Hawaiians, and he believed they intended to try at the last moment to buy the election.

Kamahu said the Republican party was the party of the rich and therefore not the party for Hawaiians, and Charles Rose gave an address of instruction in marking ballots. Thomas Gandall promised to try and have wages raised for laborers if elected to the legislature. Joe Fern urged that Democracy be given a chance and said Lauka should have a chance to give a clean police administration.

Col. McCarthy spoke in similar strain to his speech at Kakaoko, with further criticism of the election laws. He said they were so complicated that many errors were made and ballots thrown out, and he proposed to simplify them if sent to the Senate.

The other speakers were Edward Like, and Frank Harvey.
